

30th Annual Fall Detroit RV & Camping Show October 2-6, 2019 highlights the newest RVs

Novi, Mich.—Check out the newest RV models, floorplans and technological advancements at the Michigan Association of Recreation Vehicles and Campgrounds (MARVAC) 30th Annual Fall Detroit RV & Camping Show, happening October 2-6 at Suburban Collection Showplace in Novi.

“RV’s have certainly evolved since MARVAC first introduced the fall show to the Metro Detroit area,” said Darren Ing, director of MARVAC. “For families looking to start camping or for those ready to make it a full-time lifestyle, there are so many more options available than there were when the fall show started 30 years ago.”

Some of the newest models on the show floor include:

- Airstream Bambi—This single-axle iconic Airstream travel trailer elevates the camping experience efficiently and beautifully with an adaptable floor plan including a dedicated sleeping area, well-designed kitchen and storage, retractable awning and more. All of this can be towed with an SUV. Brought to the show by National RV. MSRP $48,900.
- Renegade Veracruz—This Super C motorhome on a diesel Ford F550 chassis looms large, but travels light. At 35.5 feet, the 2020 model offers a towing capacity of 12,000 lbs. and exceptional residential-style features including a full-size refrigerator, king bed, theater seating and more. Brought to the show by Veurink’s RV Center. MSRP $209,159
- Palomino Puma—An RV for every camping family, this travel trailer sleeps eight (8) and offers plenty of space for all your traveling supplies. This durable vehicle is 1/2 ton towable for spur of the moment trips. Brought to the show by A & S RV Center. MSRP $40,757.
